COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK. May 23.—In response to weather cables and clear weather in Texas, the cotton market opened easy at 4 to 10 points decline today. Liquidation was heavy, including the line of one of the big local longs, but this cotton was absorbed well, and soon after the opening prices railled 3 or 4 points on support from spot houses, and a nervous feeling over private advices, indicating a possible return of unsettled conditions in the southwest.

Cotton futures opened easy; May, 12.23; July, 12.63; August, 12.51; October, 12.22; December, 12.23; January, 12.15.

Heavy buying developed near the close on rumors that a southern authority estimated conditions at 74.6, and on a report from a big commission house to the effect that the present condition was the lowest since 1907, when the crop was 11,500,000, including linters. Final prices were unchanged to 11 peints net higher, the closing tone being very steady.

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—The cotton market opened steady at a loss of 5 to 7 points. Liquidation of long cotton over the week end was against values, and after the call prices were 8 to 9 points down.

Cotton futures opened steady; May, Cotton futures opened steady after the call prices were 8 to 9 points down.

> Two Routes Selected, With Many At tractions on Each-General Invitation Extended.

Wanderlusters of Washington are preparing for one of the biggest get-togetherout-of-doors excursions into the picturseque country in the outlands of the National Capital tomorrow, that has even called office-chafed people into the open and back to nature to revel among the flowers and sing with the birds.

Two co-ordinate routes have been selected, through virgin soil, but rich in lore of the lder days when George Washington was derlusters will have an opportunity tomorrow to stand on several eminences as did the young engineer who after-ward became the "father of his country," and feel themselves masters of all that they survey-masters indeed as concerns breaths of pure air, visions of beautiful scenery, the gathering of wild flowers such as can be found in none of the most exclusive Washington conservatories and songs of the birds that no operatic artist has yet been able to equal.

Big Event in Afternoon.

The big "hike," of course, is the afternoon event, when even those who have toiled all night will have been refreshed and eager for the road, when church duties have been performed, when the women bound by household cares will have had a chance to get the home nest tidled up and all feel free to revel with nature for a couple of hours.

According to general orders, the wanderlusters will meet at Cabin John bridge at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afterduties have been performed, when the women bound by household cares will have had a chance to get the home nest tided up and all feel free to revel with nature for a couple of hours.

According to general orders, the wanderlusters will meet at Cabin John bridge at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The first part of the route will lead along Conduit road for a short distance, when the hikers will leave the road and pass down through the woods to Seven Locks, where they will strike the towpath along the canal.

After exploring the woods between the canal and the river the hikers will turn east to Eads' mill, a picturesque old ruin of gray stone, long abandoned. From there the route will lead back to the Glen Echo car line for the return trip to the city.

Those who feel more vigorous may make an all-day affair of the Sunday "hike," or those who have other duties for the afternoon may get their recreation in the early hours of the day by joining the morning jaunt, which is over a very picturesque trail abounding in flowers and birds.

Further rains in Argentina, causing damage and delay to shippers, gave the corn market a lift. May delivery went straight up to the long-looked-for goal, 70c a bushel. After starting % to % higher, prices continued to rise.

The street car companies are notified each Sunday of the route of march for the wanderlusters and requested to provide adequate car accommodations, which they invariably promise to do. This statement is made in answer to the following note, and it is the hope of all those who are finding so much pleasure and physical benefit in these walks that the street car companies will put on extra cars hereafter where needed to carry them to or from the terminals of their "hike."

Writer Makes Suggestion.

The note says: "It is unnecessary to write that the Sunday hikes are enjoyable, and thanks are due the promoters and leaders and to The Star for publishing the notices. that lack of street car facilities has marred somewhat the pleasures of the hike. For instance, on the Burnt Mills trip many were delayed in reaching the starting point because the cars were running at such long intervals and then were crowded to the limit, making a wait for the next car necessary. The same condition existed in the return trip, from College station last Sunday. "It would appear to be no one's duty, but if one of the leaders would give notice to the car company, especially where the regular schedules provide for long intervals, it would seem that extra cars might be provided." marred somewhat the pleasures of the put wheat up a triffe this morning; July, 18th and 18th a

Dr. Galloway, who was recently in Ithaca looking over the situation connected with the New York experiment station, has expressed himself as well pleased with the possibility of agricultural work there. There are about 2,500 students in the agricultural college, and New York state is excellently situated for taking up the advance program of agricultural as well as the social and economical problems connected with the modern methods of marketing and transportation. Dr. Galloway thinks, therefore, that there will be an excellent opportunity for carrying out some of the lines of advance rural work in which the department is now interested. The Safest Investments Are those that do not ductuate during dis-turbed conditions of the money or stock market. First deed of trust notes (drat mortgages), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "gilt edge" investments. They do not depend upon the financial responsibility of indi-viduals or corporations for their stability and are exempt from taxation as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from $500 upward. Bend for booklet, "Concerning Loans and Invest-ments."
